

TO: Whom it may concern

I am concerned about genetically modified food and urge you to be concerned as well.

1. These techniques HAVE NOT BEEN PROVEN SAFE.
On the contrary, red flags have been raised. Ill effects have been observed. What does it take to convince some people?! What about common sense?
2. Why are we doing this to begin with? WHO STANDS TO GAIN?
We need to modify our problem-solving methods; the tendency is for every conceivable action but direct confrontation with the cause.

I have dedicated my life to learning about the body, good health, and medicine. The most critical determinant of our health is what we put inside in our bodies every day. Things are bad enough without GMOs added to the plate.

Please listen to the scientists whose concern is for our well-being. Please listen to the people who have educated themselves, perhaps because of personal health crises. Close your eyes, envision GLOBAL health, and wipe away a tear.
